

Disclosure Statement: David Autor

“Disability Benefits, Consumption Insurance, and Household Labor Supply”

September 10, 2015

1. Sources of financial support for the research.

Autor acknowledges financial support from the Russell Sage Foundation and the Sloan Foundation.

2. Each interested party from whom he or she has received significant financial support, summing to at least $10,000 in the past three years, in the form of consultant fees, retainers, grants and the like.

I list below all parties from which I have received $10K+ in the last three years. I do not think that any of these entities is an “interested party” but I am erring on the side of completeness:

- a. Alfred P. Sloan Foundation
- b. American Economic Association
- c. The Gates Foundation
- d. Government of Singapore, Ministry of Trade and Industry (MTI)
- e. National Bureau of Economic Research
- f. National Science Foundation
- g. Social Security Administration
- h. Spinoza Foundation, Geneva
- i. SNS Institute, Stockholm
- j. Susan Thompson Buffett Foundation
- k. ThompsonReuters

3. Each author should disclose any paid or unpaid positions as officer, director, or board member of relevant non-profit organizations or profit-making entities. A “relevant” organization is one whose policy positions, goals, or financial interests relate to the article.

- a. Associate Department Head, MIT Department of Economics
- b. Co-Director, MIT School Effectiveness and Inequality Initiative
- c. Associate Director, NBER Disability Research Consortium (funded by the Social Security Administration)
- d. Executive Committee, American Economic Association

- e. Executive Committee, Society of Labor Economists
- f. The Urban Institute, Board member and trustee

- 4. The disclosures required above apply to any close relative or partner of any author.

No spousal or family-related potential COIs of which I am aware.

- 5. Each author must disclose if another party had the right to review the paper prior to its circulation.

No other party had the right to review the paper prior to its circulation.