

American Economic Journals Disclosure Statement
(Please include one for every author of the paper.)

Date: 4/30/18

Author Name: Daniel Prinz

Manuscript Title: Screening in Contract Design: Evidence from the ACA Health Insurance Exchanges

Disclosure Statement:

Funding for this research was received from Pfizer in the form of two unrestricted grants of $35,000 during academic years 2016-2017 and 2017-2018, $5,000 of which was used to support my salary.

In connection with this research, I also received in-kind support from Pfizer in the form of facilitation of data access with Managed Markets Insight & Technology (MMIT) in 2016 and 2017.

In connection with this research, I was reimbursed for conference travel by TerraMedica International (in 2016), Harvard University (in 2017), and Northwestern University (in 2017).

In connection with this research, I received one-third of the Mark A. Satterthwaite Award for Outstanding Research in Healthcare Markets in 2017.

In 2016, I received a consulting fee of $5,000 through Harvard Medical School for a literature review on health and economic outcomes written with Michael Chernew, David Cutler, and Austin Frakt from PhRMA.

In 2017, I received a consulting fee of $5,000 through Value Based Insurance Design Health (VBID Health) for a white paper on competition in the healthcare sector written with Michael Chernew and Leemore Dafny for the Peterson Center on Healthcare.

In 2018, I received a consulting fee of $5,000 through Value Based Insurance Design Health (VBID Health) for a white paper on competition in the healthcare sector written by Michael Chernew and Leemore Dafny for the Peterson Center on Healthcare.

In academic years 2015-2016 and 2016-2017, I received a doctoral fellowship from Harvard University of $26,800 and $27,600, respectively. In Summer 2017, I received a further $3,000 as a summer predoctoral fellowship.

For academic years 2017-2020, I received the James M. and Cathleen D. Stone Ph.D. Scholarship in Inequality and Wealth Concentration from the Multidisciplinary Program in Inequality & Social Policy at the Malcolm Wiener Center for Social Policy, Harvard Kennedy School, an unrestricted total research grant of $18,000.

In academic year 2017-2018, I received Pre-Doctoral Fellowship in Disability Policy Research from the National Bureau of Economic Research in the amount of $23,376.

In 2018, Nicole Maestas and I received SSA grant #DRC12000002-06 through the National Bureau of Economic Research Disability Research Center for Project NB18-Q10 on employer incentives in disability insurance in the amount $59,050, $9,720 of which will be used to support my salary.

In 2017, I was reimbursed for travel by the National Bureau of Economic Research.

No party had the right to review this paper prior to its circulation.