

Protecting Competition in an Economy with Superstar Firms: Disclosure Statement

Carl Shapiro

November 2018

I have not received financial support from any entity to write this article.

I have received significant fees as a consultant and/or expert witness during the past three years from a number of parties for my work on mergers and/or other antitrust issues addressed in this article: the United States Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission, the UK Competition and Markets Authority, CVS, Enbridge, General Electric, Google, Infineon, Intel, Steves Doors, and Virgin America.

No entity had the right to review this article prior to publication.