

Disclosure Statement

Ariella Kahn-Lang

In the last three years, I have received significant financial support from Harvard University, Mathematica Policy Research, and the RAND corporation. No party other than the authors had the right to review it before submission. This project was not submitted for IRB approval because there were no human subject or potentially harmful substances involved.