

Shelly Lundberg
Department of Economics
University of California Santa Barbara
slundberg@ucsb.edu

Paper Title: "Can Positive Feedback Encourage Female and Minority Undergraduates into Economics?"

Disclosure Statement

The author declares that she has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. Financial support for this project was received from the Undergraduate Women in Economics Challenge, an initiative is funded by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation through the National Bureau of Economic Research and endorsed by the American Economic Association. The project received Human Subjects approval from the University of California Santa Barbara Institutional Review Board.

Shelly Lundberg