

Disclosure statement for Sarah Miller for “The Economic Consequences of Being Denied an Abortion”

The author declares that she has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper