

Disclosure Statement – François Lafond

For the paper “Why is productivity slowing down?” I gratefully acknowledge financial support from Baillie Gifford, the Oxford Martin School and Arrowgrass. In the past 3 years I have received funding from the European Commission, IARPA, and Partners for New Economy. I have an ongoing working relationship with the UK Office for National Statistics. I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in the article.

François Lafond