

Alexandre Mas
Disclosure Statement

The author declares that he has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in the paper "Labor Market Impacts of Reducing Felony Convictions".

The funding for this experiment came from university research funds. The author received no financial support from Interested Parties.

IRB approval for this study was obtained from Princeton University.