

Disclosure Statement for Christian Dustmann

This statement relates to the paper “Unintended Consequences of Welfare Cuts on Children and Adolescents”.

The author is a full faculty member at the Department of Economics at University College London (UCL). He declares that he has received financial support by the Rockwool Foundation, the DFG (Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft) and the Norface Welfare State Future program.

No IRB was obtained because Danish research institutions do not require this. Data access and handling was approved by the Danish data protection agency.

The author confirms that the information above is correct and declares that he has not any relevant or material financial interests beyond the ones stated above that relate to the research described in this paper.