

Jack Liebersohn received financial support for a previous research article from the National Multifamily Housing Council (NMHC), a U.S. trade association representing the apartment and multifamily housing industry. There is no ongoing financial relationship between Liebersohn and the NMHC and this project did not receive any support.