

Disclosure Statement – Stephen Hansen, University College London

In the past three years, I have received more than 10,000 USD in financial support from: Banco de la Republica de Colombia, Bank of Chile, Bank of Italy, BBVA, CEMFI, EIEF, IADB, IESE, and Imperial College. These came from contracts to provide advice and instruction on the use of machine learning methods in economics and finance and have in no way affected the drafting of the article “Performing Valid Inference with AI/ML-Generated Covariates: A Guide for Empirical Practice”. My main source of financial support for this article is European Research Council Consolidator Grant 864863. I have no other potential conflicts to disclose.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Stephen Hansen', with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Stephen Hansen