

JOURNALS OF THE AMERICAN ECONOMIC ASSOCIATION

AUTHORITATIVE. INSIGHTFUL. ESSENTIAL.

AMERICAN ECONOMIC ASSOCIATION

Leading academic institutions, government agencies, and businesses from around the world rely on AEA Journals for influential economics research. Coverage includes foundational knowledge as well as innovative insights emerging from all fields of economic discourse.

American Economic Review

Established in 1911, the AER is among the world's oldest, most respected, and most cited scholarly journals in the economics profession containing peer-reviewed articles covering a broad range of topics.

Published monthly.

The American Economic Journals

Since 2009, the American Economic Journals have focused on relevant research in four important specialty fields of economics. Outstanding articles from each AEJ are selected every year to receive the distinguished AEJ Best Paper Award.

AEJ: Applied Economics

Offers timely research enabling readers to take advantage of the latest insights on subjects like empirical corporate finance, labor economics, demography, plus health, education, and welfare economics.

Published quarterly.
www.aeaweb.org/journals/app

AEJ: Macroeconomics

Focuses on the studies of aggregate fluctuations and growth, and the role of policy in that context. Interacts with research in other fields such as monetary theory, industrial organization, finance, labor economics, public finance, political economy, and development economics.

Published quarterly.
www.aeaweb.org/journals/mac

AEJ: Microeconomics

Publishes papers focusing on microeconomic theory, industrial organization, and microeconomic aspects of international trade, political economy, and finance. Includes theoretical work, as well as empirical and experimental work with a theoretical framework.

Published quarterly.
